Super X Australasian Supercross Championship - Saturday 14th November

Australia's most successful Supercross rider, Chad Reed from Kurri Kurri, is set to race against his idol, Jeremy McGrath, at his home race on the Super X calendar at Parramatta Stadium 14th November. McGrath and Reed share two decades of success in America's AMA Supercross Series, which is the highest level of the sport in the world.

Widely attributed as the rider behind the highly successful phenomenon of Supercross, McGrath injected a new breed of talent and sportsmanship into the emerging action sport, which resulted in an explosion of popularity.

The rivalry is set to be fierce between the seven time world champion McGrath and Reed, who admits to idolising the 'King' as he progressed through the local ranks of competition before setting his sights on the international stage.

Organisers believe the matchup between the two Supercross greats will draw an even bigger crowd than last year when over 15,000 fans descended upon Parramatta Stadium.
